CONTENTS

ORIGINAL ARTICLES

Sourceland controls and dispersal pathways of Holocene muds from boreholes of the Ionian Basin, Calabria, southern Italy
Perri, F., Critelli, S., Dominici, R., Muto, F. & Ponte, M. 967–972

Late Cambrian (middle Furongian) shallow-marine dysoxic mudstone with calcite and brachiopod–olenid–Lotagnostus faunas in Avalonian Cape Breton Island, Nova Scotia
Landing, E. & Westrop, S. R. 973–992

Nd isotope mapping of the Allochthon Boundary Thrust on the shores of Georgian Bay, Ontario: significance for Grenvillian crustal structure and evolution
Dickin, A. & North, R. 993–1008

Late Cambrian (middle Furongian) shallow-marine dysoxic mudstone with calcite and brachiopod–olenid–Lotagnostus faunas in Avalonian Cape Breton Island, Nova Scotia
Landing, E. & Westrop, S. R. 973–992

Late Cambrian (middle Furongian) shallow-marine dysoxic mudstone with calcite and brachiopod–olenid–Lotagnostus faunas in Avalonian Cape Breton Island, Nova Scotia
Landing, E. & Westrop, S. R. 973–992

Conodont biostratigraphy of the mid-Carboniferous boundary in Western Ireland
Fallon, P. & Murray, J. 1025–1042

Ecdysozoan-like sclerites among Ediacaran microfossils
Moczydłowska, M., Budd, G. E. & Agi´c, H. 1145–1148

RAPID COMMUNICATIONS

An updated and refined Holocene uplift history of southern Tenerife (Canary Islands) and the possible consequences for future volcanic activity
Buchner, E., Ritziert, J. & Schmieder, M. 1137–1144

Submit your paper online
http://mc.manuscriptcentral.com/geo

GEOLOGICAL MAGAZINE

This journal offers open access publishing through Cambridge Open Option. Please visit journals.cambridge.org/openoption for more information.