JOURNAL OF THE GEOLOGICAL SOCIETY

Volume 172, Part 1, January 2015

Specials

Pease, V.L., Klimczak, A.B. & Danilov, M.K. The New Siberian Islands and evidence for the continuation of the Uralides, Arctic Russia

Milia, A. & Torsken, M.M. Rift and supradetachment basins during extension: insight from the Tysnoten rift

Review Article

Platt, J.P., Braith, W.M. & Cooper, F.J. Metamorphic core complexes: windows into the mechanics and rheology of the crust

Research Articles

Bird, P.C., Castwright, J.A. & Dische, T.L. Basement reactivation in the development of rift basins: an example of reactivated Caldonian structures in the West Orkney Basin

Heinonen, A., Andersen, T., Ramo, O.T. & Whittaker, M.J. The source of Proterozoic anorthosite and rapakivi granite magmatism: evidence from combined in situ Hf–O isotopes of zircon in the Alhmanto complex, southeastern Finland

Butler, R.W.H., Mansilago, R., Sturgeon, G. & Grasso, M. Stratigraphic variations control deformation patterns in evaporite basins: Messinian examples, onshore and offshore Sicily (Italy)

Terry, M., Meiser, A. & Ben Brahim, M. Pliocene cold climate groundwater silicification, Jebl Ghasoul region, Messinian Basin, Morocco

Siglo, N., Hoffmann, J.F., Keiner, A. & Schröder, S. Archaean granulite-facies paragneisses from central Swaziland: inferences on Palaeoarchaean crustal reworking and a complex metamorphic history

Published by The Geological Society

Geological Society Internet site: www.geolsoc.org.uk
JGS online submission: http://jgs.allenpress.net

Abstracted and/or indexed in Current Contents, Science Citation Index, GeoAbstracts, GeoRef, Geobase, Petroleum Abstracts, Geological Abstracts and Mineralogical Abstracts.

Published by the Geological Society of London

Cover image: Lower Jurassic organic-rich mudstone containing ammonites and calcite veining, Kilve, Somerset. The slightly elliptical geometry of the ammonites indicates they have been mildly strained during tectonic deformation. The layered veining defines a fault zone in which individual increments of fault movement are represented by separate layers of hydrothermal calcite.

Photo: Hannah Sime