Excavation was undertaken in three separate stages comprising a 5.8 m high crown advance, a 4.2 m high bench advance and a final 3 m high invert closure. Daily production of the primary lining was carried out by a conventional shotcrete primary lining, typically 200–300 mm thick, locally reinforced by a combination of mesh and lattice arch girders and rock bolts.